SAMUEL C. MOON'S WHOLESALE TRADE-LIST

LARGE STOCK.

Frequently we have calls for large, well-grown specimen trees and shrubs, for producing immediate effect in new plantations.

The following are a few well-developed plants that have been transplanted several times, and are still standing in cultivated land. They have excellent roots, and most of them can be shipped with heavy balls of earth if desired.

Further particulars respecting the stock will be furnished on application, but whenever practicable, it is more satisfactory for purchasers to visit the Nursery and examine such stock in person. We are glad to receive such visitors.

AZALEA AMCENA. I have a fine stock of this scarce but valuable plant. It is one of the choicest dwarf evergreen shrubs for small yards and for massing, and for bordering groups of rhododendrons or other broad-leaved evergreens. It blooms very freely in early summer, and forces with the greatest ease. The flowers are semi-double, 1 inch in diameter and of rich carmine or magenta color, borne in great profusion. When full grown the plants attain a size of 3 to 4 feet in height. It is highly prized wherever known, and well-grown specimens are always eagerly taken at good prices whenever they can be secured; but, as it is a dwarf plant and a rather slow grower, the demand has always been in excess of the supply and large plants are always scarce. The young stock here offered will continue to increase in value for several years. For prices, see above.

LONICERA FRAGRANTISSIMA.

This shrub is not sufficiently known or appreciated. It is one of the best plants for informal shrubberies and for filling vacancies. It is very hardy, nearly evergreen, a vigorous grower, open and irregular in habit without sprawling "all over," blooming very early, often before the snow has entirely disappeared; the flowers are very fragrant with the delightful daphne perfume. It gives satisfaction wherever used and should be planted more freely.
